“Consumer Alert”

Cheyenne - The Wyoming Division of Banking (Division) has become aware of individual(s) contacting consumers over the telephone claiming to be employees of various state bank regulatory agencies. During the call the consumer is asked to verify personal financial information as a matter of record. We have not been contacted by Wyoming residents, but are aware these types of calls are being made in other states.

The Division does not solicit consumers' personal information in any manner (electronic, telephone, or otherwise). Consumers should NOT under any circumstances, provide any personal financial information through this medium.

Consumers and financial institutions should notify the Division of any suspicious activity or any similar attempts to obtain personal financial information at (307)777-7797.

The Wyoming Division of Banking is responsible for the supervision and regulation of state chartered banks, trust companies and licensed non-depository financial entities operating in this state. The division operates out of the Herschler Building in Cheyenne. For more information regarding this matter or any other consumer related financial matter, please contact our office.
